

A group of five people, including students and staff, are gathered around a wooden table in a classroom, engaged in a hands-on activity. One person is pouring liquid from a glass into a blue bowl, while others observe and assist. The room has light green walls and large windows.

